ONHGS TREASURER'S REPORT

The financial status of the Old New Hanover Genealogical Society is in good shape. Our income for the year was $212.59 over our expenses. We budgeted $3,120.00 for membership dues and received $4,190.00 in dues. We budgeted $6,999.96 for income from the sale of books. but received $4,805.85 with an additional amount of $566.70 outstanding in charge orders from various libraries. With the decrease in our book sales we had a corresponding decrease in our expenses for publishing and shipping book orders.

We took $3,000.00 from our checking account and put it into a savings account which brought $51.86 in interest income. The Society purchased books for the North Carolina Room at the library for an amount of $1,573.84. These reference books are for the use of the Society members as well as the general public.

NEW HANOVER COUNTY COURT OF PLEAS & QUARTER SESSIONS

[This series submitted by Helen Moore Sammons continues from the March 1994 Courier. The New Hanover County Court Minutes prior to 1800 were abstracted many years ago by Alexander Walker. They are in four volumes and can be purchased from ONHGS. We have previously printed that a courthouse fire destroyed the minutes from 1800 to 1805, but it has come to our attention that they do exist on microfilm out of sequence. Mrs. Sammons began her series in 1805. Spelling was recorded as seen and a ___ is given when the abstractor found the minutes impossible to read.]

The North Carolina Department of Cultural Resources
Genealogical Services Branch

Located at 109 East Jones Street in Raleigh, NC, this library is unrivaled when it comes to genealogical resources. Located in the same building which houses the State Library of North Carolina (not to be confused with NC State University Library) and the NC State Archives, it is a must for any North Carolina researcher.

The Genealogical Services Branch maintains an extensive reference collection of published materials. These include family histories, census records and indexes, abstracts or transcriptions of state and county records, cemetery records, extracts from newspapers, published rosters of soldiers, lists of pensioners, bibliographies, indexes, and general reference works on genealogy.

This branch also has a large collection of materials on the colonial period in North Carolina and the other original colonies as well as information on the area from which North Carolinians came and to which they migrated.

In addition to published materials, the collection includes microfilm of surviving census records, 1800-1890, for the entire United States, together with many of their published indexes. Also included is the 1900 and 1910 census microfilm for Georgia, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia, as well as North Carolina and Soundex indexes (North Carolina only) on microfilm for 1880, 1900, 1910 and 1920.

Books and periodicals are not available for loan. Microfilm of currently available North Carolina censuses and a collection of county records (usually prior to 1868) may be borrowed by libraries. The county records include court minutes, deeds, marriages, tax lists and wills.

Researchers may write to the Genealogical Services Branch (Genealogy Branch, State Library of North Carolina, 109 E. Jones St., Raleigh, NC 27601) to request copies of specific pages from a book or periodical. Staff will search indexed published abstracts of one county for one name if an approximate year(s) is given. A maximum of 20 photocopies ($.20 per page) may be sent. A $1.00 minimum charge is made for all mail requests. The researcher is billed for the exact amount. Do not prepay.

You can also write and ask for Tar Heel Tracks which describes the collection and services offered and an information sheet, Getting Started In Genealogy. All books given to the North Carolina Genealogical Society for review in their Journal are donated to the Genealogical Services Branch.

The Genealogical Services Branch has a staff of four including two librarians with more than thirty years experience in genealogical research. Housed on the mezzanine, the branch is open Monday through Friday from 8am - 5:30pm and on Saturday 9am - 12noon and 1 to 5pm.

Genealogical Notes From the New Hanover Public Library

The library thanks ONHGS for donating nine volumes, plus index, of the American State Papers, which include public lands and claims from the time of Independence through the 1830s. This set is particularly good for those elusive ancestors who migrated into the "new" territories. The Colonial and State Records of South Carolina have also been received. They provide a wealth of information regarding the early years in the Carolinas. The early records of Isle of Wight County, Virginia on microfilm are another valued addition to the collection. Many thanks to ONHGS for making our regional collection one of the best!

Coming soon to the local history and genealogy room will be 30 compact disks containing 200 million plus records for genealogists. Records which have heretofore only been available at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, are now available to libraries. A major contribution to the library by ONHGS member, Tibitha McEachern, will allow the library to buy, Ancestral File, International Genealogical Index, Family History Catalog, and U.S. Social Security Death Index and Military Index. The computer hardware will allow the library to buy more compact disks in the future. The system should be in place by early September.

Bill Reaves has been busy indexing books and adding to his local history files, therefore, no new families have been added to the Reaves Collection of family files. Bill has busied himself with the birds, alligators, whales, snakes, deer, cats (the wild kind), etc., of Southeastern, NC. If you have any scaly or furry friends in your family tree give us a call. By the next newsletter Bill says he will have added to the people files.

NAMING CUSTOMS IN SCOTLAND

[The following article was taken from the Australian Tulach Ard and was written by Ted Finn. Forty thousand Scots came to America through the Cape Fear prior to the Revolution.]

Scotland being a country appreciative of its traditions, had a highly developed system of naming children. The general custom to which there were some variations, was to name children as follows:

The eldest son after the paternal grandfather.

The second son after the maternal grandfather.

The third son after the father.

The eldest daughter after the maternal grandmother.

The second daughter after the paternal grandmother.

The third daughter after the mother.

Younger children would be named after earlier forbears but, the pattern in their case was less settled.

One variation from the above was for the eldest son to be named after the mother's father, and the eldest daughter to be named after the father's mother. In this case the second son would be named after the father's father, and the second daughter after the mother's mother. Occasionally the second son and daughter would be named after the father and mother instead of the third son and daughter. Another variation was to call the third daughter after one of the great-grandmothers instead of after the mother. In such a case, the fourth daughter would be called after the mother.

In considering the name pattern it must be remembered that certain Christian names had different forms. The Gaelic Hamis, for instance, is the equivalent of James, Ian or Iain are Scottish forms of the Latin Johannes which is the English John. Elspeth, with its diminutive Elspie, Isobel and Isabel are forms of Elizabeth. Daniel is the equivalent of Donald.

Before the middle of the 18th century it was very rare to find more than one Christian name, but after that time the gradual introduction of a second Christian name naturally affected the same pattern. Dr. Maitland Thomson gives some interesting information on the matter of multiple Christian names. In the year 1760 in Edinburg, he found that only about 1 percent of children baptized had two Christian names. By 1790 this had risen to 7 percent and by 1820 it was nearly 25 per cent.

More than one Christian name for working-class families is very seldom found until the 19th century and even then it is rare to get more than two names. In the upper and professional classes, however, more than one Christian name begins to be more general from the beginning of the 19th century.

The second Christian name was sometimes the name of a godfather or godmother or some patron. The developing custom of giving more than one Christian name brought with it, the custom of including a surname from the mother's side of the family.

Thus a second son, instead of being named after the Christian name of the mother's father, was sometimes given both the Christian and surname.

The custom applied also to the eldest daughter of families. An unusual Christian name (as Teckla) can be a very valuable clue, some unusual Christian names have in fact become almost hereditary in certain families.

Civil registration began in Scotland later than in England and it was not until 1855 that Scottish law required it, however, its late start is its only disadvantage for registration itself in the details which it gives is far superior to that in England and Wales and to most registrations elsewhere.

In 1855 registration was the finest of all years, the amount of information it gives in all certificates is quite astonishing. Unfortunately, it was decided that the difficulties of obtaining, in every case, this very full information made it impracticable; the details required were reduced in 1856, and these were slightly modified and improved upon in 1861.

[The following tax list was submitted by Bill Reaves, who notes. "long before the famous Battle of Moore's Creek Bridge, the first battle of the American Revolution in North Carolina, February 27. 1776, the creek with its' bridge was known as Widow Moore's Creek. Wm. S. Powell in his popular NORTH CAROLINA GAZETTEER says: "probably named for the Widow Eliz. Moore, who owned land adjacent as early as 1735". I believe we can now offer a new candidate who is mentioned in the "List of Taxables for the County of New Hanover.. September Court, 1767". In this list is "Widow Margaret Moore" with two slaves, one male and one female. Of the 514 white taxables, she is the only one to have the designation of "Widow" affixed to her name as part of her official name. Have we finally found the illusive lady who unknowingly contributed her name to one of the most important events in the history of our State?"]

I want to express my sincere appreciation for being the recipient of the 1993 Haskett Award. This is the highest honor that I have ever received, and it is particularly special to me because it bears the name of Delmas D. Haskett, my dear friend and mentor. The Old New Hanover Genealogical Society has good folks, who work hard, and I am proud to be among them. Thank you.

The Sences Taker in our twon, bein taken sick, he deppertised me to go out for him one day. And as he was too ill to giv me informashun how to perceed, I was consekently compelled to go it blind. Sittin down by the road side I drawd up the follerin lists of questions which I proposed to ax the people I visited:

Wat's your age? Whar was you born? Air you marrid? and if so how do you like it?

How many children do you ogt? An do they suficiently resemble you as to procllood the positility of their belongin to any of your naber's?

Did yo hav the measles, and if so how many? Hav you a twin brother sevral years older than youself? How many parents hav you got? State wether you are blind, deaf, idiotic or got the heavens.

But my questions didnt work. I got in a row the furst house I stopt to with some old maids. Disbelivin to their age, I endevered to open their mouths and look at their teeth, same as we do with horses, but they floo into a vilent rage and tackled me with brooms. Taken the sences requires experience, lik any other bizniss..
