The Reaves Collection
New Hanover Public Library
by Beverly Tetterton

The Reaves Collection, compiled by Bill Reaves, of Wilmington, North Carolina, was donated to the North Carolina Room of the New Hanover County Public Library during the 1990s. The collection came about in 1971 when Mr. Reaves was an employee of the Wilmington Star-News and keeper of the "newspaper morgue." Fortunately he was able to salvage 100 years of newspapers when the company decided to have them destroyed. The bound volumes of newspapers found their way to his home and from there began a most unusual collection of Lower Cape Fear historical and genealogical materials, a compilation which consumed the rest of his life.

Reaves spent thirty years clipping and filing the old newspapers. About 1990, he began the unbelievable task of typing up his family files. This required putting all of the newspaper clippings and other items he had collected in chronological order and then typing the text. He then indexed the entire file. As he typed a file he gave it to the North Carolina Room. Mr. Reaves died in 2000.

In 2003, J. Kenneth Davis, Jr., of Wilmington, arranged the voluminous Reaves Collection and the Old New Hanover Genealogical Society paid to have the files copied and bound. The final product is 81 volumes and thousands of pages of great genealogical value. Some families (the King family for example) have two, three or four files and fill an entire book. Other families have fewer than ten pages. Most files fall somewhere in between. Mr. Reaves did not make any attempt to separate families with the same surname, therefore, it is up to the researcher to use the information to the best advantage.

Mr. Davis prepared an excellent index for the entire collection. It includes the surname, the dates covered in the file, and the number of pages in the file. The number of pages is broken down into the file pages, index pages and miscellaneous pages. The miscellaneous pages could include cross-referenced information, business advertisements and photographs. The Old New Hanover Genealogical Society who helped pay for this massive project felt that the index needed to be published and made available. Therefore, they are devoting this entire issue of the Clarendon Courier to this valuable index.

How To Order A Reaves Collection Family File

To order a copy of a family file from the Reaves Collection, add up the number of pages available for a particular surname (include index and misc.). Send a check to North Carolina Room, New Hanover Public Library, 201 Chestnut Street, Wilmington, NC 28401. The check should be made out to New Hanover Public Library. The cost is 25 cents per page and $2.00 shipping and handling. The library staff will copy the family file and send it to you.

More Good News About the Bill Reaves Collection

Unfortunately, Mr. Reaves did not live to type all of his collection. There are hundreds of family files left to be arranged. There are two ways to get one of these files. If you are local or want to visit the library you can get a copy of a file for free if you come into the library and arrange it. If you cannot arrange it yourself you can pay to have it done for you. The cost is 50 cents per page. Arranging a file consists of putting all the clippings, etc. in alphabetical order and adhering them to paper so they can be easily copied. Volunteers are currently working on a list of surname files which have never been arranged. This list will be published in a future issues of the Clarendon Courier. For now, if you have a surname that does not appear in the index of Volumes 1-81, ask the library staff if one exists.

It was the wish of Mr. Reaves, and is the hope of the Library, that this collection will help the genealogist find vital and interesting information that cannot be found elsewhere. In the search for his own family Mr Reaves said, "I have found both the famous and infamous, the rich and poor, the educated and illiterate, the Union and Confederate warriors and I cherish every 'skeleton' that I have found in my many closets."

William Marion (Bill) Reaves

He was born on June 3, 1934, in Newark, New Jersey, the son of the late Marion William Whitford and Florence Belle Lynk Reaves. His grandfather, Richard Martin Van Buren Reaves, was a Confederate Veteran. In 1968, Mr. Reaves became a resident of Wilmington, his father's childhood home. During the 1970s, he worked both as a librarian and reporter for the Wilmington Star-News, where he wrote the popular local columns, "Inside Old Wilmington" and "Looking Back." In 1976, during the United States' Bicentennial, he wrote an award-winning series of articles on the history of the Lower Cape Fear. Working with the Historic Wilmington Foundation, he was actively involved in Wilmington's historic preservation movement. In the 1980s, he helped catalog the artifact and image collection of the Cape Fear Museum. He also worked for North Carolina State Historic Sites at Brunswick Town, Fort Fisher and the Town Creek Indian Mound. A popular lecturer, he taught local history at Cape Fear Community College and the New Hanover Public Library. A noted historian, Mr. Reaves was involved in over fifty local history publications and genealogical abstracts, covering New Hanover, Brunswick, Pender and Duplin counties. A charter member of the Southport Historical Society, he wrote a remarkable four volume history of Southport. He was the author of Strength Through Struggle, The Chronological and Historical Record of the African-American Community in Wilmington, North Carolina, 1865-1950, for which he received a national award from the American Association of State and Local History. His works have also been honored by the North Carolina Society of County Historians, the North Carolina Department of Archives and History, the Lower Cape Fear Historical Society and the Old New Hanover Genealogical Society. In 1992, the North Carolina Underwater Archeology Unit Library at Fort Fisher was dedicated as the William M. Reaves Research Room. Mr. Reaves shared his extensive newspaper clippings and other historical files with the North Carolina Room of the New Hanover Public Library. The library's Bill Reaves Collection has benefitted researchers throughout the United States.
