SOCIETY NEWS

The next society meeting will be held Saturday, November 20, 2004 at 2:00 p.m. in the New Hanover Room of the Main New Hanover County Public Library, Third and Chestnut streets. Mr. Jerome Tew, editor of the Sampson County Historical Society's newsletter, the Huckleberry Historian and author of the New Revolutionary Soldiers of Sampson and Duplin Counties, North Carolina, will be our distinguished speaker. Mr. Tew is a well-known authority on area Colonial records. Plan to attend to hear this important speaker.

Ms. Pam Toms, Supervisor, Genealogical Services, State Library of North Carolina will be our speaker on Saturday, January 15, 2004, at 2:00 p.m. at the main New Hanover County Public Library. Ms. Toms will discuss the many resources for genealogists in the State Library's extensive collection.

Because of the threat of inclement weather in the Piedmont area due to Hurricane Jeanne, where our speaker lived, Helen Leary's lecture on September 21st had to be cancelled. The Society's Executive Committee is going to reschedule this outstanding speaker in the very near future.

The editors wish to thank Joseph Sheppard, Helen Sammons, Jim Edwards for their contributions to this Courier.

Fire in Wilmington, North Carolina on April 30, 1843 and the Names of the Sufferers

Researched & Transcribed by Joseph Sheppard

The North Carolina Room of the New Hanover Public Library accepts donations of published materials of local or regional interest. A library patron donated a May 6, 1843 issue of the New-York Weekly Tribune. The patron observed Ebay and saw the newspaper with the reference to an article about Wilmington. The article was about the fire of April 30, 1843 and lists people who had property destroyed. The New-York Weekly Tribune cited the story from the Wilmington Chronicle. To verify the article, Joseph Sheppard read the 1843 microfilmed and original Wilmington Chronicle newspapers. The May 3, 1843 issue (Vol. 4, No. 51) following the April 30 fire is possibly missing or out of chronological order. We have a lucky find.

From the New-York Weekly Tribune. By Greeley & McElrath, Office 160 Nassau-Street, Vol. II, No. 34..... Whole No. 86, Saturday, May 6, 1843, page 8. North Carolina Collection, New Hanover County Public Library Manuscript Collection, LCPF. No. 927:

HEADLINE: Destructive Fire at Wilmington, N.C.

We are indebted to the Wilmington (N.C.) Chronicle for an Extra containing the particulars of a destructive fire at the place on Sunday morning. It broke out in an old ware-house known as McKay's, and swept in a few minutes across Princess-street to the dwellings of Mrs. Robeson, Mr. Anderson, and Mr. Calder, when all hope was lost of saving any of the Northern part of the town above those points, between Front and Water and Front and Second-streets.

In two hours from the time the alarm was given the fire had reached the Railroad Depot buildings, a distance of three-eighths of a mile from where it commenced. Between Princess street and the Railroad, and Second street and the river, not more than a dozen buildings are left standing. On the upper wharves there was an immense quantity of country produce, such as naval stores, lumber, & c. all of which was destroyed. Many families lost the whole of their furniture, others a part.

Many of the houses were among the best in town, and a very large proportion were valuable ones. The loss is estimated at $300,000. The insurance is supposed to amount to $100,000. Annexed is a list of the sufferers, so far as could be ascertained:

Dwellings on Front-street – Wm. H. Briggs, Wm. R. Larkins, Mrs. Robeson, A. Martin, Alex. Anderson, Mrs. Noyes, Matthew Lawton, Thos. C. Miller, E. Kidder, Mr. Cason, Jas. I. Bryan, Thos. N. Gautier, Rev. Jesse Jennett, Samuel Beery, Stephen D. Wallace, John Walker, house only partly burnt; Wm. Calder, Mrs. Meares, Robert H. Cowen, P. K. Dickinson, A. Wannet, Gen. J. Owen, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Collins, Ross Davis, David Jones's Hotel.

Also on Front-street – Methodist Church, Alex. McRae, store-house, Messrs. Grant's store, Jeffrey & King's do, ---- Trask, Railroad Coffee House, Wilmington and Raleigh Railroad Co. – All the railroad depot buildings of every description, including five locomotives, some cars, the bridge over the ravine, and two or three hundred yards of the road where there were several tracks. Books and papers saved.

Dwellings on Second-street – Levin Lane, John A. Davis.

Stores, Offices, Ware-houses, &c., on Water-street – Shelton & Mallory, L. S. Yorke, – Mayo, W. C. Lord, Wm. B. Giles & Co., S. W. Dunham, Custom House, (books and papers saved,) James I. Bryan, E. Wessel, Thos. Stewart, E. Peterson, O. G. Parsley and H. Baker, John McRae, Alexander Webster, David Thally, Geo. Costin, Geo. W. Davis, Miles Costin, Alfred Dudley, John B. Craig, Hall & Armstrong, B. F. Mitchell, Jesse Jennett, John Hall, E. Wilson, Jesse Bowden, Hector McKellar, Mrs. Piner, W. R. Larkins, R. Smith.

From the Wilmington Chronicle, Wednesday May 10, 1843, Vol. IV, No. 52, page 2:

There is little to add to our last week's account of the sweeping conflagration of the 30th ult. With the exception of some few names of sufferers omitted, published today, we then furnished the reader with all the items relating to the fire, of general interest. As extensive as was the destruction of buildings and other property, the amount of actual distress produced, was found upon investigation to be less than might reliably be calculated upon. The most aggravated cases of destitution have been relieved by the beneficence of our citizens, whilst other, rather less afflictive, have been ministered to according to their various requirings.

Notwithstanding the fearfulness of the calamity, in scarcely a breast is there despondence. We are cast down, but not dismayed. The future – the, is looked to with hope as the restorer in a comfortable degree of prostrate fortunes, and energy and economy, with the kind favor of Heaven, relied upon to release ourselves from the difficulties that encompass us.

Sufferers by the late fire whose names were not included in the lists heretofore published. Owners of buildings burnt. Henry Nutt, E. B. Dudley, E. Emmons, B. Sherman, John Willets, Thos. O'Neal. Owners of other property destroyed. The United States, Martin & Warren, Edward Bates, R. D. Jones, R. C. Hallett, Geo. Barksdale, Battle & Brothers, G. H. Kelly.

The committee appointed by the town meeting of the 3d instant, to obtain contributions "from the citizens, for relieving the pressing necessities of those left destitute by the late fire," collected in that way, about six hundred and fifty dollars, which, together with the generous donation of one hundred dollars from the Wilmington Lodge of Odd Fellows, was disbursed under the direction of the Commissioners in the way indicated in the resolution.

The masonic fraternity of St. John's Lodge, we understand, contributed a handsome sum through their own committee for the benefit of the sufferers.

IN MEMORIAM

The Old New Hanover Genealogical Society has lost a good friend. George William Willcox died Tuesday, August 31, 2004 in Wilmington, NC. He was born 29 October 1926 in Sanford, NC, the son of George William Willcox, Sr. and Eva Siler Willcox.

During George's early years he lived in the House in the Horseshoe in Moore County, which he would later use as a centerpiece for his award winning book, A History of the House in the Horseshoe, Her People and Her Deep River Neighbors. A graduate of North Carolina State University, he spent his working years in textile manufacturing, retiring to Wilmington in the early 1980s. He was a Certified Genealogical Researcher and published several family histories, including The Camerons of Wilmington. A past president of the society, he received the Delmas D. Haskett award in 2000.

The Society extends to his wife, Marsha Bryant Willcox and his other immediate family its sincere sympathy.
