Series II of the Bill Reaves Family Files has been indexed and is available to researchers! New Hanover County Public Library volunteer, Pete Ambler, has completed an index for over 6,800 family surname files that make up Series II. The Old New Hanover Genealogical Society donated funds to the library to purchase archival quality file folders and boxes to house the mammoth collection of newspaper clippings and other family history related materials. To better understand the Bill Reaves Collection and how to use it, we offer the following explanation. Also, to see if the family you are searching is in the collection, please visit the Reaves Collection on our Web Page <http://www.onhas.org/reaves.htm>

The Reaves Collection, compiled by Bill Reaves was donated to the North Carolina Room of the New Hanover Public Library during the 1990s. The collection came about in 1971 when Mr. Reaves was an employee of the Wilmington Morning Star and the keeper of the newspaper morgue. He salvaged about 100 years of newspapers when the company decided to have them destroyed. The bound volumes were taken to his home, where for the next thirty years, Mr. Reaves clipped and filed the old newspaper articles. About 1990, he began typing up his family files, which he also indexed. As he typed a file, he gave it to the North Carolina Room.

In the Winter 2004 Clarendon Courier, it was reported that J. Kenneth Davis, Jr. had arranged the typed files of the William R. Reaves Collection into 81 volumes, which are identified as Series I Family File Surnames. The Old New Hanover Genealogical Society paid to have the files copied and bound. Mr. Davis prepared an excellent index for the entire collection which includes the surname, the dates covered in the file and the number of pages in the file. This index was published in the Winter 2004 Courier and is posted on the Old New Hanover Genealogical Society Web Site.

Mr. Reaves had separate files for African-American families, which he had begun to type and compile shortly before his death in November of 2000. These records contain about 90 surname files and are sorted, typed and bound in four volumes and are identified as Series I, African-American Family Files.

The Series II Family Files contain the 6800+ additional family files of clippings and other materials accumulated by Mr. Reaves which were not typed and indexed by him. They may include a supplement to the Series I surname files and occasionally duplicate them. However, the majority of information in Series II is heretofore, unseen. The newspaper clippings are dated and identify the newspaper in which they appeared. Some of the files contain as few as one to four clippings; others may have over 200. Other materials found in the files may include genealogical abstracts of wills, deeds, cemetery records, etc., and occasionally correspondence with descendants.

Some of the Series II files have been arranged or collated but the majority have not. Arranging a file consists of putting all of the clippings and cross references, etc., into chronological order and copying them. The cost of obtaining a family file can be found on the society's Web Page www.onhgs.org or by contacting the North Carolina Room at (910) 798-6305.

MORE SOCIETY NEWS

Pam Toms, Supervisor of the Genealogical Collection at the North Carolina State Library in Raleigh, NC, was the guest speaker at the Society's meeting on Saturday, January 15, 2005 at the main library. She gave an overview of the resources of the library which includes guides, bibliographies, indexes, abstracts, military records, histories and periodicals.

The state library's web site is <http://statelibrary.dcr.state.nc.us> which has links to the State Library Catalog and E-Mail reference. This allows researchers to explore the catalog online before they visit the library.

Ms. Toms mentioned that the extensive microfilmed core collection of North Carolina County Records has recently been expanded to include Estate Records. Another new addition to the microfilm collection is the complete Revolutionary War Pension and Bounty-Land Warrant Application Files. All of these records are available for research in the North Carolina State Archives, 109 E. Jones Street, Raleigh, NC.

There is a large collection of North Carolina Newspapers on microfilm, housed in the State Library's General Collection. Many are available on interlibrary loan to North Carolina residents. In order to see what newspapers are available you may:

Search State Library catalog <http://go.dcr.state.nc.us/> By choosing Advanced Search
In Search for, enter specific City or Town or specific County

In Search in: pull down list and choose Newspapers by City or Newspapers by County.

Other electronic resources are: 1. NC Live, which is a free online access for North Carolinians to a large and varied group of resources; and 2. North Carolina ECHO, an online directory to the special collections in our state's libraries, archives, museums, historic sites and other cultural institutions; and 3. E-mail Reference Service. All are accessed through Quick Link on the State Library website.

The Society thanks Ms. Toms for a most enlightening talk about genealogical materials in the North Carolina State Library.

Church of Saint Paul
Episcopal Parish of Wilmington, North Carolina

Transcribed by James Edwards

First in a series from Book 2

History:

(Some of the following was in the series from Book 1 but is redone here since it is at the beginning of Book 2 as well.)

May 5th 1858, the following named persons met for the purpose of forming the congregation of St. Paul's Church, Wilmington

William A. Beery, William B. Whitehead, William J. Cornwall, Thomas H. Harvey, Samuel P. Gause, Daniel Fergus, Mrs. Joseph G. Atkinson, Mrs. Jane R. Fleming, Mrs. D. A. Cornwall, Mrs. S. P. Gause, Mrs. E. D. Whitehead (From old register in Bishop Atkinson's handwriting)

The first vestry meeting was held in the Church, June 9th 1858. Present: Rt. Rev. Thomas Atkinson, Chrmn., Zebulon Latimer, S. P. Gause, Daniel Fergus, Frederick J. Moore and DuBrutz Cutler. The subject of processing a Rector for the Church was first considered, and on motion it was.

Resolved that Bishop Atkinson be invited to continue his service to the Church as heretofore, when not otherwise engaged. The Bishop being present assented thereto.

Mr. Thomas H. Harvey was duly elected Treasurer of the Church, and DuBrutz Cutler was appointed Secretary. (From Vestry minutes)

Extract from "History of St. Mark's Church, Wilmington, US". written by Rev. Daniel Morelle.
"Before the year A.D. 1858, Church accommodations for the colored people in Wilmington was very much restricted. There was but one parish Church in the town, that of St. James, and although the building of St. Johns had been begun even in the plans for the latter Church, but little provision had been made for the accommodation. But, in that year, by the co-operation of a few earnest people with the Bishop of the Diocese, the Rt. Rev. Thomas Atkinson, the Protestant Methodist Church on the corner of Orange and Fourth Sts., was purchased with the understanding, that the sittings should be free and that those in the gallery should be given up to the colored people. The design was, that that it should forever be a free Church for a mixed congregation. After the purchase of the property, the use of the Church building was offered to St. James Parish on condition that such a congregation should be maintained, but the Rector and Vestry who were anxious to finish St. John's declined the proposition. Consequently, on the fifth of June, 1858, a new parish was organized, under the name of St. Paul's, and a mixed congregation, the music of which was rendered by a colored choir, was formed. A Sunday School for colored children was opened, but as in that day it was not lawful to teach them to read, they were orally taught the Church Catechism, and to sing Psalms and Hymns.

"The new Parish, however, was not strong and it first only enjoyed such services, as could be rendered by the Bishop, and these, in consequences of his repeated absences, on his visitations, were much interrupted. During the spring of 1859, The Rev. Daniel Morrelle came weekly from Goldsboro to hold Sunday services, and in the fall of that year, he removed permanently to Wilrnington to teach, and under the Bishop to take charge of the Parish. Previously to his removal, however, the parish had been received into union with the Diocese of North Carolina the 7th day of May at the Convention held in Goldsboro that year. But the services of a Priest were greatly needed, and early in the summer of 1861, the Rev. Henry A. Skinner was called, and as its first Rector, took charge of the Parish for a few months. On his resignation, the charge was again given to Mr. Morrelle, who retained it till the first of July, 1862. The services were then indefinitely suspended, partly on account of the effects of the war, and partly on account of the effects of pestilence, which prevailed in Wilmington during the autumn of that year.

"The only service held in the Church till after the close of the war was the occasional celebration of a maniage. In the report of the parish for 1863, after the services had been suspended, the number of Communicants is given as fifty, thirty-four white and sixteen colored.

"The last year of the war, it was proposed that St. Paul's should be re-opened for the benefit of the colored people alone, but nothing was accomplished at that time.

"After the occupation of the town by the northern army, the Church building was a few months used for the purposes of a colored school supported by the Northern people; afterwards during the autumn, it was for a short time occupied by the congregation of St. James', their Church having been seized for an hospital.

"On the establishment, in 1865 by the General Convention, of the Freedman's Commission, a colored school numbering between two and three hundred, and maintained by the commission, was for several years kept up in the Church building.

"Early in the year 1866 a mission service was established for colored people, and the Rev. Richard H. Jones was placed in charge. He reported to the Convention, held in Christ's Church, Newbern in 1866, thirty-nine communicants "gathered in good part from the congregations of St. James' and St. John's and from the former one of St. Paul's parish". On the failure of Mr. Jones health, and his inability to attend to the duties of the Mission, they were assigned to Mr. Morrelle.

"By the untiring efforts of Miss Hesketh, one of the teachers in the school, who drilled the children in music, a double choir was formed, and a choral service maintained for many weeks. It proved very attractive, and drew large congregations. Mr. Morrelle remained in charge till the autumn of 1868. When the clergy of St. James' received it, Mr. Morrelle continued to give one service every Sunday. His formal connection with the Mission entirely ceased the latter part of June 1869.

"In the fall of 1869, the charge was given to Rev. Charles Otis Brady, a colored deacon, who up to the present writing (Jan 1878) has continued to minister to the congregation. Soon after Mr. Brady took charge, the congregation adopted the name of "St. Mark's congregation", and resolved to have a house of worship which they might call their own" (Copied from St. Mark's Parish Register-F.N.S.).

From the records of the Vestry, the following items have been taken.
Jan. 9th 1872, as the Church was no longer needed for the colored congregation, the Vestry decided to re-open it for whites. Several calls to Clergymen were extended before a Rector was accepted an election to the Parish, entered upon his duties, and continued to serve the Parish as Rector until May 13th 1887, that being "the second Sunday in May."

Rev. Charles L. Arnold of Illinois (Galena), was elected Rector of the Parish Sept. 29th. 1887, and entered upon his duties the 6th of November following. Nov. 22, 1887, the Vestry, on the recommendation of the Rector, appointed a committee and took action with reference to remodeling, enlarging and improving the Church building. While this work was going on, services were held in the rooms of the Wilmington Library rooms, in the Masonic Building. The new Church was consecrated by the Rt. Rev. Alfred A. Watson, DD, Bishop of the Diocese of East Carolina, May 26th, 1889, the fifth Sunday after Easter. In the Autumn of 1890, Rev. Mr. Arnold resigned the Rectorship of the Parish, and his resignation took effect November 1st of that year.

In February 1891, the Rev. Frederick N. Skinner was elected to rectorship, and assumed charge of the Parish May 1st 1891. In April 1897 he resigned the rectorship, and his resignation has been accepted by the Vestry, his connection with the Parish ceased May 1st 1897.

Epitaph from Devonshire, England:

Charity, wife of Gideon Bligh,
Underneath this stone doth lie,
Nought was she e'er known to do
That her husband told her to.

ONE LAST WORD...

The viewer of this inscription might understandably refuse the invitation to "do likewise:"

"She lived a life of virtue and died of the cholera caused by eating green fruit, in the hope of a blessed immortality.
Stranger, go thou and do likewise."

-"Grave Matters," Florida Living, August 1994
